

New boats ~ Multihulls

LAGOON 55

Lagoon's new 55 sits below their enormous 65 which arguably is in another bracket of luxury altogether compared to the rest of the Lagoon range. The 55 fits much more into the standard Lagoon template with the focus on cruising comfort for a couple with blue water cruising plans. As you'd expect though, volume is simply immense and with that comes an enhanced level of comfort. Thus, the 55 boasts six cabins plus a flybridge above the cockpit which is in itself a very comfortable living space. Further innovation comes in the form of a forward cockpit.

● cata-lagoon.com

ORC 57

ORC is a new range of fast bluewater cruising catamarans (ORC stands for Ocean Rider Catamarans – nothing to do with Lord of the Rings). The 57 is a brand new design from the pen of Marc Lombard. This is a big boat that looks like it definitely sits at the high performance end of. The cruising cat range. Displacement is comparatively moderate and sail area generous. It looks like a boat that would win you the ARC and then provide a comfortable platform for a barbecue afterwards.

● marsaudon-composites.com

BLUEWATER 50 MK 3

Discovery Yachts' Bluewater cruising catamaran has long been viewed as one of the jewels in their crown. This luxurious cruising multihull has been ushering lucky owners around the blue water cruising circuit both in comfort and at impressive speeds. Now this evergreen Bill Dixon design is back, following a thorough revamp which has distilled all the knowledge gained from decades of satisfied customer feedback and refined it to produce a truly superlative performer that combines stunning good looks, seakindliness and the legendary levels of quality synonymous with DiscoveryShipyards' work.

● discoveryshipyard.com

